Date: February 18th 2018 – Sky Bar F.I.L.

Participants: 50 participants

Dixtior held an event at Sky Bar F.I.L., where 50 participants from the Lisbon area attended. The purpose of this event was to disseminate the project.

The first point discussed was the main goal of the project, which is to pool, maintain and share the knowledge on old traditional crafts, through the use of modern computer and internet-based technologies.

The second point discussed was the way that we are doing this, which is thought a game called “Geocaching”. The majority of the attendant’s present at this event were already very familiar with this game, but the goal was to explain how we could use this tool to fulfill the main purpose of the project, described on the first point of the event.

Finally, we showed everyone our website, and how they could learn more about all the old traditional crafts.

The event was very successful overall.
